

Olive Crest APSS and Mental Health Programs

The Adoption Promotion and Support Services Program (APSS) was created in 2005 as a result of an identified need for additional adoption-specific services in the LA community. This program targets LA County children and families touched by adoption from the dependency system. We serve a range of individuals, from children who are hesitant to engage in the adoption process to families and children who have already finalized their adoption and are in need of additional services specific to adoption. Our clients are referred by the child or family's CSW, ASW or by the Post Adoption Unit.

APSS services are comprehensive and include individual and family therapy, mentoring by individuals who have personal experience with adoption, support groups, trainings, case management and linkage services. Our goal is to stabilize children and their families as it related to adoption through supportive services and education.
